New report on adaptation strategies during COVID-19
A new report – Adaptations Used to Ensure Contraceptive Access During The Covid-19 Pandemic – investigates Covid’s profound impact on RH supply chains and explores adaptations that stakeholders in sub-Saharan Africa have made in order to maintain access to RH commodities. Produced by inSupply Health, the report was issued under the auspices of RHSC’s Compass initiative which supports greater resilience in supply chains and marketplaces following the COVID-19 pandemic. Register here for a panel discussion on the findings of the report, taking place on 28 June.

Encuentro introduces SEPREMI to English-speaking Caribbean
In a region where island states face expensive and complex supply chain challenges, 24 participants from 17 Caribbean countries came together for the first time to learn about contraceptive procurement-related business intelligence, planning, advocacy, and impact measurement. The USAID / LAC Bureau supported the translation of business intelligence tool SEPREMI allowing ForoLAC and the UNFPA sub-regional office in the Caribbean to co-host a workshop. English-speaking Caribbean countries learned how they could benefit from the favorable procurement terms currently enjoyed by Latin American countries. Following on from a successful series of Spanish-language Encuentros in Latin America, this English-language meeting in Port of Spain showed how SEPREMI can help estimate the effect of different budget scenarios on reproductive health outcomes. Read more.

NGO integrates RH into migrant services in Guatemala
This week, as the world observes World Refugee Day, the RHSC is pleased to report that our Guatemalan partner NGO TAN UX´IL has helped integrate sexual and reproductive health supplies into the migrant services offered at Petén Care Center. Petén, Guatemala, is on a major transit route for Central American migrants heading to Mexico and the United States. Under the Paso Seguro initiative, two UNHCR-trained nurses have been hired, and nearly 1500 women have received SRH services, a quarter of whom aged 10-19. Read more.

In the first four months of the program, the TAN UX´IL center served nearly 1500 women, a quarter of whom were aged 10-19.

Collaborative supply planning work launched under Compass
As part of the Compass Initiative, the RHSC is supporting work to document the interest and processes necessary for joint supply planning in West Africa, and more specifically, the ability and prospects for Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) countries and the West African Health Organization (WAHO) to work together to review country supply plans for joint decision-making as a region. Chemonics will work in close partnership with RHSC and WAHO to move toward collaborative supply planning in West Africa. RHSC reaches out on WeChat

RHSC partners in China will now receive RH supply community news in two ways – the ongoing Chinese version of SupplyInsider as well as a monthly digest on WeChat. The messaging, social media, and mobile payment app – China’s largest – has nearly 1.7 billion users and far outranks traditional email in popularity and daily use. Contraceptive Technologies Webinar

The RHSC is co-hosting a series of webinars on modern contraceptive technologies with FP2030, FHI360, PSI, Population Council, and the CTI
Exchange. The first webinar explored innovative contraceptive technology including transdermal gels, biodegradable implants, and multipurpose prevention technologies, shared a vision for what a user-led, context-appropriate, and gender inclusive contraceptive method mix could look. Find the recording here and watch this space for information on upcoming webinars.
