Article 1. Introduction

The Reproductive Health Supplies Coalition (RHSC) is the largest network of reproductive health (RH) organizations in the world. Its membership spans the public, commercial, and not-for-profit sectors—all of which play vital roles in ensuring that high-quality RH supplies find their way into the hands of those who need them. The RHSC brings together a diversity of partners and mobilizes their collective strengths to increase access to a full range of affordable, quality reproductive health supplies in low- and middle-income countries.

As a membership organization, the RHSC adds value by promoting sustained, coordinated action amongst its members and other partners. One avenue for bringing members together is through the RHSC’s Implementing Mechanisms (IM), which are communities of practice working toward a specified and agreed-upon objective. Subject to regular oversight from the Secretariat and periodic review by the RHSC’s governing board—the Executive Committee (EC)—IM objectives and activities must relate and contribute to the achievement of the RHSC Strategy.

Participation in IMs is voluntary and open to all members who agree to support the IM’s objective(s) and abide by the IM’s TOR. Members should express their interest in participating in an IM by contacting the elected IM Chair(s) or the designated Secretariat Coordinator. IMs are responsible for having and adhering to their own TOR, which are linked and must specify adherence to the RHSC TOR, guiding principles, mission, vision, and strategy. Any sustained digressions or significant diversions from these may be brought to the attention of the EC for resolution.

These TOR specifically cover the objectives, functions, composition, leadership, and conditions for dissolution of the Advocacy and Accountability Working Group (AAWG).

1 As of March 2020, the RHSC IMs are the following: Working Groups - Advocacy & Accountability, Market Development Approaches and Systems Strengthening; Caucuses - Generic Manufacturers, New/Underutilized RH Technologies, Maternal Health Supplies; and Regional Forums - El Foro Latinoamericano y del Caribe para el Aseguramiento de Insumos de SR (ForoLAC), Sécuirty Contraceptive en Afrique Francophone (SECONAF).
Article 2. Mission and value

Mission:
The AAWG provides a collaborative platform to convene global, regional and in-country advocates to inform and support each other and to develop and conduct joint advocacy and accountability, in order to promote a favorable environment for scaling up availability of and equitable access to a wide range of affordable and high-quality RH supplies.

Value Proposition:
Focused both on contraceptives and other reproductive health supplies, the AAWG is a place where global, regional and in-country advocates and other stakeholders can:

- Contribute to and benefit from a learning agenda to advance best practices and examine new experiences in advocacy and accountability efforts
- Develop joint advocacy and accountability strategies and activities in order to increase impact towards creating a favorable environment for reproductive health supplies
- Share their achievements and lessons with the broader advocacy community and receive constructive feedback
- Gain access to donors, implementing partners and other opportunities in order to initiate and progress collaborative advocacy and accountability for reproductive health supplies
Article 3. Functions

The form and function of the AAWG is determined by its own members to best accomplish its specified objectives. As a community of practice, the AAWG brings together RHSC Secretariat staff, official RHSC members, and other partners of the RHSC to implement activities, advance work streams of the working group, share information and resources, and provide overall guidance to the RHSC’s work related to advocacy at the global and national levels.

3.1 Roles and Responsibilities of Working Group Members and Chair(s)

i. Selection of AAWG Co-chair(s): The AAWG, under direction of the RHSC Secretariat Coordinator, participates in the recruitment and election of the AAWG Co-chair(s) through the process described in Section 5.2.

ii. Governance and decision-making: The AAWG Co-chair(s) ensures that the AAWG’s governance and related decisions are made on a consensus basis. If issues need to be resolved by a vote, the following rule governs: the position expressed by a majority of those present at in-person or virtual meetings, through voting, constitutes the decision. Decisions by the AAWG do not override AAWG members’ respective governing bodies.

iii. Activities: In accordance with these TOR, the AAWG is responsible for overseeing, organizing and strategically planning its workstreams and activities, which should be linked to the priorities and objectives set forth and described in Article 2 and explicitly support the RHSC Strategy. Members’ project/program activities in their respective countries or context constitute an integral part of the AAWG’s work.

iv. Reporting responsibility: As an IM of the RHSC, the AAWG is responsible to the RHSC Executive Committee (EC) and reports back to the EC as requested via the Co-chair(s).

v. Membership engagement: As a community of practice, the AAWG is expected to regularly convene its members through teleconferences, meetings (hosting, at a minimum, one in-person meeting during the RHSC General Membership Meeting), informational webinars, and other events. This allots WG members the opportunity to provide and hear updates on workstreams and activities; share and learn about new information, resources, and tools on market development; network; share intelligence and contribute to overall planning for and implementation of AAWG work.

vi. Communications: Routine communications are facilitated by, but not limited to, an electronic distribution list, moderated by the Secretariat Coordinator, to which any WG member can

2 Many non-member organizations and individuals, referred to in these TOR as “Partners,” are actively and often routinely involved in RHSC affairs and/or those of its IMs. Partners often play critical roles within the RHSC, may bring needed technical expertise, and may open up new avenues for cooperative learning and collaboration.
vii. Representation: The AAWG acknowledges that it does not speak for the RHSC, but for its members, and it agrees not to present itself as the voice of the RHSC. If the AAWG is interested in pursuing this option for specific cases, RHSC EC approval is required.

viii. RHSC engagement: Fostering collaboration across the RHSC’s diverse membership, the AAWG is expected to engage and share information/updates with other RHSC Members and IMs through AAWG representation at other IM meetings, sharing of AAWG resources and updates, and participation in joint-IM initiatives that are relevant to AAWG priorities. The AAWG Co-chair(s) represent(s) the AAWG on the RHSC Council of Chairs (Article 5.4.1.iv).

3.2 Roles and Responsibilities of Secretariat:

i. Secretariat support to implementing mechanisms is described in the RHSC Terms of Reference (specifically sections 4.6.1.1 and 4.6.1.2).
Article 4. Composition

4.1 Criteria for Membership

To be eligible for membership of the AAWG, individuals must adhere to the following criteria:

i. Membership is open to any individual from a member organization of the RHSC.

ii. Members of the AAWG should have a significant programmatic and/or financial stake in meeting family planning and reproductive health supply needs, including demonstrating a vested interest in advocacy.

iii. Members of the AAWG should be proactive in sharing and building the knowledge base on market development for RH supplies to further strengthen the community of practice.

iv. Members of the AAWG should be ready to volunteer in the WG’s activities with a view to strengthening the overall RH coalition.

4.2 Process

i. Prospective AAWG members request inclusion in the MDAWG by communicating directly with the AAWG Co-chair(s) and/or RHSC Secretariat Coordinator all relevant contact information for the prospective member.

ii. The Secretariat Coordinator will confirm AAWG membership status with the prospective AAWG member and include his/her contact information in all group membership lists (i.e. mailing list).

iii. The Secretariat Coordinator and Co-chair(s) should provide the new AAWG member with a brief orientation to the AAWG, as well as make any necessary introductions to other AAWG members that may be deemed appropriate or beneficial to current AAWG activities.

iv. After onboarding, new AAWG members are expected to actively participate and engage in AAWG activities, meetings, and workstreams.
Article 5. Leadership

The AAWG is led by two Co-chairpersons. A Co-chair of the AAWG is a person who is an active member of the AAWG and whose organization is an institutional member of the Coalition. The Chair has the vision, collaborative spirit, commitment, and support to effectively guide the group in its work to further the mission of the RHSC.

Through the Secretariat Coordinators, the Coalition Secretariat collaborates closely with the AAWG Co-chair(s) on anything related to the strategic functioning, coordination, and communication of the AAWG and its workstreams. Furthermore, the Secretariat Coordinator helps to ensure linkages are established with other RHSC IMs. Roles and tasks of the Co-chair(s) and Coordinator will be determined based on mutual agreement.

5.1 Eligibility

Any active member of the AAWG can put forward a candidacy for the position of Co-chair. Candidates must:

i. Be willing and able to fulfill the responsibilities of the Co-chair, including its representative role inside and outside the RHSC;
ii. Devote adequate time and effort to effectively lead the AAWG; and
iii. Have good oral and written communication skills, including fluency in English.

Co-leaders must belong to different organizations and have personal and institutional strengths that complement and reinforce each other. In addition, the co-leadership arrangement aims, as much as possible, to be gender, geographic and thematically balanced.

5.2 Leadership Selection Process

Members of the AAWG elect their Co-chair(s) through a formal election process. In case of a precipitate departure of the Co-chair, the Secretariat will promptly initiate the process of a new election to replace the departing Co-chair.

To ensure transparency and minimize any potential conflicts of interest, the election will be led by the Secretariat Coordinator and overseen by a Nomination Committee.

5.2.1 Nomination Committee

i. The Nomination Committee comprises no more than four persons, including an AAWG member from the Global South.
ii. The Nomination Committee will be convened by the Secretariat Coordinator.
iii. Member organizations of the Nomination Committee may still cast a vote in the election.
iv. Members of the Nomination Committee may not be nominated to the ballot.
5.2.2 Election Procedures

In conjunction with the current Co-chair(s) and no later than three months before the term of the Co-chair(s) is to expire, the Secretariat Coordinator reviews and updates the Co-chair TOR and disseminates this TOR to all members of the AAWG. The Secretariat Coordinator solicits four AAWG member volunteers to serve on the Nomination Committee, which oversees the nomination of candidates for the Co-chair position.

No later than two months before the term of the Co-chair is to expire, the Nomination Committee will invite AAWG members to put forward candidacies for the Co-chair position. One month prior to the end of the Co-chair’s term, the Nomination Committee will forward to the AAWG members the names of all eligible candidates. In the event of more than one candidate, the Nomination Committee will announce an election.

Only one vote per RHSC Member organization will be allowed. It is the responsibility of the member organization to internally determine who votes on behalf of the organization. The vote will be conducted by secret ballot (either via online, email or in-person if it coincides with an AAWG meeting). All votes are confidential from AAWG members and from the current AAWG Chair(s). The RHSC Secretariat Coordinator will monitor the responses to ensure that only one response per RHSC member organization is provided. In the event that multiple differing responses are received from a single organization, participants will all be contacted to nominate a single voter.

In the case of an in-person election, AAWG member organizations unable to attend the election may notify the Nomination Committee of their vote in writing (or through a proxy). The vote must be received in advance of the election. The Secretariat will coordinate the voting process.

In order to reduce the likelihood of ties and/or re-elections, the AAWG election process will be determined by the nomination committee depending on the number of candidates and likely voters. In the event of no simple majority there will be a run-off between the top two candidates. In the event of a tie, members of the Nomination Committee, (except the Secretariat Coordinator) along with the current Chair(s), will have three business days to select the new Chair and inform the Secretariat from amongst the top two candidates.

5.3 Terms of Service

5.3.1 Term Duration

The Chair(s) serve(s) a two-year term with the option to be extended for an additional two years, with approval of AAWG members. All WG members have the option to stand for elections every two years. In the event that one or more WG members express interest in running for Chair, the incumbent will have to put him/herself up for re-election.

*With approval of the AAWG Nomination Committee.
5.3.2 Term Termination
The Co-chair(s) may terminate his or her term at will. In cases of termination, the Co-chair should inform the RHSC Director and the RHSC IM Coordinator at their earliest convenience of their wish to discontinue their role, to allow him or her to organize a new election.

The Secretariat, under the direction of the Executive Committee, reserves the right to oppose or terminate leadership positions, prior to their expiring.

5.4 Roles and Responsibilities

5.4.1 Scope of Work
The Co-chair(s) must commit to allocating adequate time to fulfill the responsibilities of the position, which requires an average of 20 working days per year. Additional human resources from the Co-chair’s organization may be used to assist him/her to fulfill the responsibilities of the position. The time and human resource costs of the Co-chair position are borne directly by the organization of which the Co-chair(s) is employed.

The Secretariat may allocate modest financial support to the AAWG Co-chair(s) to cover core expenses (travel costs and communication expenses) as needed.

In no case will the AAWG Co-chair(s) or his/her organization be responsible for covering the financial expenses of any AAWG meetings or activities. In principle, AAWG “activities are supported by participating AAWG organizations or through funds raised by the AAWG.”

The Co-chair(s) of the AAWG also holds the following roles/responsibilities:

i. AAWG Activities and Monitoring:
   a. Oversee and strategically plan AAWG workstreams and activities which should be linked to the priorities and objectives set forth and described in Article 2 and explicitly support the RHSC Strategy.
   b. Responsible for ensuring workstreams function as intended and that activities are implemented as planned.
   c. Clarify AAWG roles and responsibilities and ensure that quality is achieved, activities are implemented, and regular communication is maintained.
   d. Liaise with workstream leaders.

ii. AAWG Partnerships and Visibility:
   a. Ensure the visibility of the AAWG’s work both internally and externally of the RHSC.
   b. Act as a conduit between the RHSC Executive Committee and the AAWG and between the latter and other IMs (including but not limited to WGs, caucuses, forums) of the RHSC.
c. Proactively create opportunities for northern and southern AAWG members to collaborate and coordinate.

d. Convene and chair AAWG meetings, including regular and/or ad-hoc conference calls, and facilitate the adoption of consensus-based, action-oriented decisions.

e. Convene regular learning events to increase visibility and information sharing between AAWG members and other IMs.

iii. AAWG Fundraising and Funding Mechanisms:

a. Identify and respond to both internal and external fundraising opportunities.

b. Review and select proposals from AAWG members for submission to RHSC funding mechanisms, including the Innovation Fund.

c. To avoid conflict of interest, the organization to which the Co-chair belongs is not eligible to submit proposals to the Innovation Fund through the AAWG. The organization is however, eligible to submit through any other IM.

d. Review grant deliverables/reports and provide critical feedback on all RHSC-funded projects sponsored by the AAWG.

iv. Represent AAWG on RHSC Council of Chairs

a. Represent the interests, technical and financial, of the AAWG on the RHSC Council of Chairs.

b. Collaborate with Chairs of other RHSC Implementing Mechanisms on Council of Chairs to coordinate regular reporting to RHSC Executive Committee.

c. Communicate to AAWG members, as necessary, messages from RHSC EC and/or Council of Chairs.

v. Neutrality

a. As per the Coalition’s strategy and identified levers of change, the Co-chair is expected to leave his or her “institutional hat” at the door while acting in the position in order to candidly address sensitive issues, think outside the box and respect differences of opinion while remaining focused on what is shared in common.

b. The Chair is responsible for actively engaging his/her own institution on the question of upholding neutrality recognizing that this may at times run counter to institutional or client priorities.
Article 6. Conditions for Dissolution

The AAWG exists in perpetuity and as part of the formal governance structure of the RHSC until such a time when either: 1) it’s Co-chair and members deem the group’s existence no longer necessary; and/or 2) the RHSC Executive Committee decides to restructure or dissolve it.4

In order to vote for dissolution of the AAWG, one or more of the following conditions should be met:

i. The group’s mandate/goal has been achieved.

ii. Any activities, workstreams, or subgroups associated with the AAWG have been completed or transferred to the leadership of another IM of the RHSC, Member organization, RHSC Partner.

iii. All projects supported and funded through resources made available to the AAWG (i.e., Innovation Fund projects and other) have been terminated and results disseminated.

iv. A shift in the external environment has occurred such that the existence of the AAWG is deemed counterproductive to current or existing initiatives; duplicative of other efforts or bodies; or no longer appropriate given current trends within the reproductive health supplies space.

v. An alternative structure for the group (e.g., caucus, taskforce, online community of practice, etc.) is considered better suited to advance the objectives of the group and meet members’ needs.

In the event that AAWG members determine that at least one of these conditions apply, the Co-chair(s) should draft a Statement of Dissolution providing evidence supporting the proposed dissolution of the WG. The Secretariat Coordinator will share this Statement with the entire membership of the AAWG and organize a vote amongst AAWG members to either approve or reject the group’s dissolution. A simple majority vote by participating members is required to approve dissolution status.

If a majority vote in favor of dissolution is received, the Co-chair will present the election results and Statement to the RHSC Executive Committee at one of its biannual meetings. A vote will be called of the RHSC Executive Committee to approve the AAWG dissolution, of which a majority vote in favor is required to formally dissolve the group.

4 As the governing body of the RHSC, the RHSC Executive Committee retains the right to restructure or dissolve any of the IMs of the RHSC to meet RHSC Strategy as it sees fit.
